Stories Alive Presents

Grimm's Fairer Tales

Reimagined for a modern age

The Brothers Grimm collected their stories hundreds of years ago, now those stories have been updated by storyteller Eden Ballantyne into stories for modern youths, with strong female characters. Little Red Riding Hood won't bother waiting for the woodcutter this time. With the audience taking on the roles of all the major characters, no two shows will be quite the same. New adaptations of the Brothers Grimm Classics by Stories Alive that will make you laugh, squirm and hold on to your seat.

Eden Ballantyne is a historical storyteller and theatre performer. After years as an actor, live interpreter, street performer and children's entertainer, he has molded his skills to create an exciting new show, which will appeal to the entire family.

Where and when: MTYP Mainstage
20-28 July, 60 minutes long.
